Reuther Charts Fighting Program As Head Of CIO

Both Factions Claim Union Not Split By Bitter Election Fight

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — The CIO's new president, Walter P. Reuther, today charted a fighting program to keep the labor organization an active factor in America's industrial life.

Reuther, in a speech accepting the post as successor to the late Philip Murray, said he would strive for the biggest possible gains for workers already organized, and campaign vigorously to organize workers who are now non-union.

Election of the dynamic, 45-year-old Reuther, head of the big CIO auto workers union, came late yesterday as a climax to the CIO's annual convention.

It capped a bitterly-contested fight pitting Reuther against a union oldtimer and former coal miner, Allan S. Haywood. Haywood, 64, was promptly re-elected as the CIO's executive vice-president after losing the showdown to Reuther.

Split Quickly Healed

The split in CIO ranks over the election apparently was quickly healed, at least on the surface. Both the Reuther and Haywood forces pledged continued allegiance to the CIO.

Reuther said, "I say to the men who sit on their plush cushions of the Union League Clubs of America, I say this for you who are convention delegates and I say it for the millions of CIO members back home, that the fat men on the plush cushions are wrong."

"We are not going to go out of here divided. We are going to go out of here united to carry on this struggle until we win."

Reuther then went ahead with an off-the-cuff speech delving into practically every subject of the day, touching on such varied problems as foreign policy, politics, union affairs and his own personal income.

To Keep Same Salary

As to his own finances, Reuther said he was content to keep living on the $11,250 annual salary he gets as president of the more than a million-member auto workers union.

"I'm in the labor movement not for what they pay me," he told newsmen. "I'm in here because I believe in what they're doing."

Reuther, it was reliably reported, will undergo an operation soon for removal of gallstones. The condition has bothered him for some time, and surgery has been delayed for six months.

A man with a meteoric career in the labor movement, Reuther has come up through the tough days of organizing the auto industry. A one-time Socialist, he has supported numerous social change ideas.

In outlining his aims to the CIO convention, Reuther spoke as if the social changes accomplished under the New Deal and Fair Deal were only stepping-stones to the goals he wants.

Despite Reuther's declarations that the split within CIO ranks would close without scars, some CIO officials were afraid of future dissension because of the close vote.

The ballot result was announced at 3:07 p.m. for Reuther, and 2:13 p.m. for Haywood, giving Reuther a margin of about 8 per cent of the CIO's claimed membership.

The votes were cast by some 600 delegates, with certain numbers of ballots allocated to various unions in the CIO.

Three Injured In District Road Mishaps

Three persons were injured in two of the four traffic mishaps investigated Thursday by Salem State Highway Patrolmen.

Clarence McFarland, 55, of Connelville, Pa., lost control of his car at 9:30 p.m. as he was driving west on Route 14, a mile west of Washingtonville, causing it to leave the road and overturn.

McFarland received lacerations of the upper lip and contusions of the chest and a passenger, Jack McFarland, 36, also of Connelville, sustained lacerations of the right eye, lower lip and chin, and abrasions of the right arm and shoulder. The men were treated at the Salem City Hospital.

The driver was cited for reckless operation.

Mrs. Doretha Wright, 40, of 998 S. Union Ave. told patrolmen her car skidded as she was driving east on Route 14, one-half mile east of Salem, at 8:07 a.m., causing it to crash into an approaching vehicle driven by Frank Aiken, 64, of Leetonia.

Mrs. Wright sustained lacerations of the lips and bruises of the left leg. She was cited by patrolmen for driving left of center.

A car operated by Vernon Duke, 36, of Lisbon crashed into the rear of a car driven by J.W. Beck, 26, of E. Pershing St. at 7:45 a.m. on Route 45, two miles south of Salem.

Duke's car traveled across the road and rolled over an embankment after the mishap. He was cited by patrolmen for reckless operation and fined $5 and costs by Mayor Wilbur Warren of Lisbon.

Trucks driven by Wilbur Toland, 62, of RD 2, East Liverpool and Albert Rossi, 20, of Warren collided at 12:15 p.m. on Route 170, six miles south of Negley.

Toland was arrested by patrolmen for failure to yield the right of way and Rossi, for failure to carry and display safety equipment.

Lie To Fire 9 U. N. Employees For Not Talking

Group Wouldn't Say If They Were Reds; 9 Already Dismissed

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie was expected today to fire nine more American U. N. employees who refused to answer the McCarran committee's questions about alleged Communist party membership or subversive activities.

A high U. N. spokesman said Lie would announce the dismissals this morning. Nine other American employees of the U. N. Secretariat already have been fired for balking at U. S. investigation questions.

Now On Leave

The nine slated to be fired have been on special leave with pay—but banned from entering the U. N. Secretariat—since they refused to answer questions by the U. S. Senate internal security subcommittee, headed by Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.), on constitutional grounds that their answers might incriminate them.

Lie was said to have served an ultimatum to the nine last Monday to answer these questions to him by noon yesterday or face firing. Their answers all were reported unsatisfactory.

Backed By Jurists

The secretary general's decision was backed by the recommendation of a three-man panel of distinguished international jurists who advised him to fire any American employee who dodged questions about alleged links to the Communist party. Red espionage or subversive rings. The jurists said such refusals created a "climate of suspicion."

Contents of the nine replies to Lie's ultimatum were not made public.

Of the nine previously fired, six have been let out since the McCarran committee started its probe of U. N. employees in October. The six had temporary contracts which were not renewed. Three others had been fired earlier for refusing to answer the queries of a previous investigating committee.

Man Bound Over To Grand Jury

LISBON — Benjamin Short, 28, of Detroit, formerly of Lisbon, was bound over to the Columbiana County grand jury Thursday after pleading not guilty to a charge of grand larceny at a hearing before Mayor Wilbur Warren.

Short is charged with stealing about $2,000 worth of household goods from a Lisbon home last February. Robert Strickland, 19, of Clendenin, W. Va. was bound over to the grand jury last month on a similar charge in connection with the same burglary.

Meanwhile Detroit authorities are holding a woman wanted by Lisbon police for questioning in the matter.

Short has been in Mahoning County jail since Nov. 1 when he received a six-month jail sentence in juvenile court for contributing to the delinquency of minors.

He was sentenced following his arrest with three youthful companions in Salem for stealing gasoline.

Ike Tells Newsmen He Has No Quick Cure To End Korea War

SEOUL (AP) — President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower told a crowd of 125 newspaper, radio and magazine correspondents today he had no quick cure for ending the Korean war.

He made it plain he had come to Korea to study the situation. He permitted no questions at the news conference. Because of this, many newspapermen expressed disappointment.

Ike grinning at newsmen of many nations, strode into the big, plain, war room at Eighth Army headquarters at 10 a. m. He talked, rapidly and seriously for 10 minutes—and that was that.

Reporters, loaded with questions and itching to ask them as the zero hour of Ike's departure from Korea loomed, got a letdown when he said:

"Now, all of you people know, that have been with me in the past, it is my common practice to ask for questions after such a conference. This, I am not going to do today for the very specific reason it is a large conference and I could not possibly get around and time that I have is limited."

A moment later, he was gone. With him went the hopes of murmuring scores of correspondents who had hoped to interrogate him closely.

Feelings ranged from regret to nettled hostility.

A newsmen from a foreign land remarked: "Well—I don't like Ike anymore."

Another non-American said: "I think the general took an awkward way out of what—for him—might have been an embarrassing situation. I'm grim about this."

But many newsmen felt only it was too bad Eisenhower's time was limited and pocketed their pencils with a shrug of resignation. And some correspondents had not expected a question-and-answer period.

Ike Arrived In Korea On Tuesday, Left Today

SEOUL (AP) — U. S. President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower took a hard look at the Korean war situation for three days, inspected combat units near the front and departed today for the United States.

He indicated he does not believe in attacking Red China or otherwise spreading the 2½ year old conflict.

Eisenhower was well-guarded and he was in excellent spirits. Shortly before his departure, Eisenhower visited President Syngman Rhee of South Korea for a hastily arranged conference.

A source close to Rhee said the two exchanged notes which may be made public Saturday.

It was Eisenhower's last act in his three day tour and lifted a veil of disappointment that had prevailed in South Korean government circles since it had been indicated he might not pay his respects to Rhee.

Eisenhower had met Rhee at Eighth Army headquarters but had not called on the ROK president.

The meeting averted a possible loss of face for the United States in Asia.

Eisenhower had left New York by plane in the pre-dawn hours Saturday. He arrived here Tuesday night. His flight was—throughout—a tightly-guarded secret.

Fulfills Promise

The U. S. Eighth Army announced that the world-famed, colorful general had completed his whirlwind tour of this war-torn nation. The general—chief of the crusade to victory in Europe in World War II—was fulfilling a promise he made to American voters in making the trip.

Eisenhower left Korea by plane at 6:01 a. m. EST today.

Whether this unprecedented mission will prove to be a failure or a success—only time can tell.

The general told a news conference before leaving: "We came over here to learn. We have no panaceas, no trick ways of settling any problem."

But he strongly indicated the solution to the Korean conflict does not lie in spreading the war to attack Red China. He said:

"How difficult it seems to be in a war of this kind to work out a plan that would bring a positive and definite victory without possibly running a grave risk of enlarging the war. There are many limitations on a war of this kind, but this much is certain . . . much can be done, in my opinion, to improve our position—much will be done."

Eisenhower added that on his way he would meet with members of his staff to study "everything we have learned here."

Is Father's Aide

Eisenhower's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, was assigned as his father's aide during his tour of Korea. Young Eisenhower is assistant operations officer of the U. S. Third Infantry Division in Korea.

Also along was a host of brass, including Secretary of Defense designate Charles E. Wilson, the incoming attorney general Herbert Brownell Jr., the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Gen. Omar Bradley, the Navy's Pacific commander Adm. Arthur Radford, and the two top Far East commanders, Gen. Mark Clark and Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

Eisenhower talked with Maj. Gen. Stephen R. Shoosmith of the British Army and deputy commander to Gen. Clark, and Maj. Gen. William Chase, head of the United States Military Mission in Formosa (Nationalist China).

He watched firing from artillery posts, tramped in the snow and

Validity Of Contested Will Upheld By Jury

LISBON—A will left by Leora Garwood of Lisbon was declared valid by a common pleas court jury which deliberated for about an hour Thursday afternoon.

Edward H. Hawkins of Hanoverton, a brother, sought to have the will declared invalid after his sister willed everything to Mrs. Gertrude Tracy of Lisbon.

Mrs. Garwood declared in her will she wanted to leave all her real estate and personal property to Mrs. Tracy as payment for her help for a two-year period preceding her death. The brother contended his sister planned only to will Mrs. Tracy some real estate in Pleasant Heights in Lisbon.

Killingsworth To Head WSB

Faces Resignation Of Industry Members

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chairman of the battered Wage Stabilization Board was faced today with probable resignation of at least some of the board's industry members in protest to President Truman's coal wage decision.

Charles C. Killingsworth, 35-year-old economics professor from Michigan State College, was named to the nation's top wage job last night a few hours after Archibald Cox quit the post with a blast at Truman's decision overruling the WSB.

Killingsworth has been vice chairman of the board for several months.

Cox said in a letter to Truman made public last night that approval of the full $1.90 daily wage boost for 40,000 soft and hard coal miners' could mean only one of two things:

1. That stabilization would continue, but with the exemption of powerful groups like Lewis' United Mine Workers; or,

2. That a general easing of wage rules all along the line would make continuance of the program useless.

In either case, Cox said, he felt he could be of no more use.

The WSB had reduced the miners' raise to $1.50 on grounds that any more would seriously damage the whole anti-inflation program. The full increase could not be paid legally until the government approved it.

Prices of both hard and soft coal are expected to go up.

The hard coal wage boost, now virtually assured, will hike the price of this home-heating fuel by about 90 cents a ton. Although this contract has not been formally approved, Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam last night ordered the WSB to approve it.

Gemmell Opens Defense On Slaying Charge

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Robert Gemmell, 28-year-old sailor, will have the opportunity today to refute evidence introduced Thursday in his first-degree murder trial that he admitted the slaying of a Columbus woman.

Mrs. Laura Grimshaw, 25, was beaten and strangled in her Columbus home July 31.

The prosecution completed its case Thursday. Thirteen witnesses and 28 exhibits were introduced before three judges in criminal court.

Gemmell, who left his fate to the judges rather than a jury, will testify in his own behalf today. His wife, Lona, also will be called to the stand.

MORE WAR FOR JET ACE—Maj. James Jabara, the world's first jet ace, demonstrates combat tactics to his family at O'Fallon, Ill., as he prepares to return to Korea, and combat duty. Credited with 9½ planes in World War II, and six MIG-15's in Korea, Jabara at present is attached to the pilot training command at Scott Air Force Base, Ill. Affirm Conviction Of 6 WAC Sergeants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Military Appeals announced Thursday it had affirmed the conviction of six WAC sergeants convicted of beating up another woman soldier after a beer drinking spree near Fort Breckenridge, Ky., in October, 1951.

The decision was handed down by Chief Judge Robert C. Quinn, Judge George W. Latimer, and Judge Paul W. Brozman. Quinn and Latimer wrote one opinion, and Brozman a separate one, although he concurred in their findings.

The six had been convicted of joint assault on former Pfc. Carol Kierce, of Mount Vernon, O. They were sentenced to dishonorable discharge, forfeit of all pay and allowances, and confinement at hard labor for terms that originally ranged from one year to 30 months.

Last January the Army judge advocate general remitted the unserved portion of the lesser sentences and three sergeants, originally given a year, were freed. They are Marjorie L. Struck, Santa Cruz, Calif.; Edith M. Brown, San Angelo, Tex.; and Mary C. Long, Fort Madison, Ia.

The sentences of the other three were modified as follows: Grace L. Morton, San Lorenzo, Calif., 18 months; Edna H. Whiteman, Preble, N. Y., 12 months; and Juliette V. Mentean, Pecos, N. M., 12 months.

Loss of pay and, dishonorable discharge for all six was confirmed by the court of military appeals.

Priest Risks Life To Give Last Rites

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A priest risked his life to crawl through a 40 foot shaft and administer the last rites of the church to a trapped coal miner Thursday night, then doffed his robes for a shovel and helped dig the man out.

The Rev. John H. Shellum, curate of Mary Queen of Peace Church in Pottsville, was one of the first men to reach Sylvester Prosper, 50, of Wadesville, after he was buried up to his neck in a shaft dug by him at the bottom of an open stripping coal operation.

Prosper was removed from the shaft which extended straight down 20 feet and off at an angle for another 20 feet, almost 10 hours after being trapped.

A fall of coal had trapped Prosper in a backward and leaning position.

Three Die In Holdup Attempt

No Money Taken; Getaway Car Crashes

MT. VERNON, Ky. (AP) — Three persons were dead today as the result of a bank robbery attempt here in which no money was taken.

Two men, including the bandit, were killed Thursday when the getaway car collided with another automobile about five miles from here.

A sheriff's deputy who was chasing the getaway car together with state police died of a heart attack at the scene of the collision.

State Police listed the dead as Willis Allen, 37, a mail carrier from nearby Climax, who made the robbery attempt; Enoch Ward, 57, occupant of the second car, and Deputy Leonard Davis.

Ward's wife, Mrs. Ibbie Florence Ward, 50, suffered fractures of the legs and one arm, a chest injury, possible head and internal injuries and multiple lacerations. She was reported in a critical condition at a Lexington hospital.

State police said Allen was holding a gun on two women bank employees when Bernard Mitchell, assistant cashier, and Lefe Owens, a garage man, entered the bank after lunch.

Allen warned Owens, "this is a stickup," state officers said, but the garage operator thought he was joking and tried to take the gun away from Allen in a playful scuffle. The pistol discharged, shooting Owens in the left hand and Allen fled.

2 Marines Rescue Baby From Fire

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Two Jacksonville Marines, flagged down by a mother crying for help, rescued a 4-month-old girl from a burning house yesterday.

The baby, Linda Winn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billie Winn, was reported in fair condition suffering with third degree burns.

Sgt. Joe L. Smith, 24, was slightly burned on the ears, nose and lips. His companion, T.Sgt. Richard P. Musgrove, 29, was uninjured.

The Marines were driving their recruiting station wagon when stopped by Mrs. Winn, 18, running on the road, pointing to her blazing four-room house and screaming, "My baby's inside!"

Musgrove pushed in the bedroom window and Smith crawled into the smoke-filled room, found the baby, and handed her out.

CLEVELAND (AP) — You have to pick your own mate in Cleveland today. The City's only lonely hearts club folded Thursday.

Dulles To Survey Foreign Policy

Ike May Recommend Action In Crisis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—Relations between the Truman and Eisenhower administrations in the field of foreign policy for the next six weeks have now been clarified in talks between John Foster Dulles and top State Department officials.

Dulles, who will be secretary of state in President-elect Eisenhower's administration, made his initial post-election contacts with officials here during the past two days.

Barring some unforeseen and critical development Dulles, prior to taking office Jan. 20, will use the resources of the State Department to make a survey of (1) U. S. policies around the world, and (2) the department's operations.

He is not expected, however, to engage in consultation on routine foreign operations or, as some officials here had thought probable, to make the State Department his headquarters.

Should an emergency arise it is understood that both Dulles and President-elect Eisenhower stand ready to consult with the present administration in an effort to form a united front in dealing with it.

Should Eisenhower and Dulles decide that some action was urgently required and should be taken by the United States before Jan. 20, the Truman administration stands ready to consider their recommendations and put them into effect if it agrees.

Dulles who came here Tuesday night and returned to New York yesterday afternoon, conferred with State Department officials and also paid a call on Secretary of Defense Lovett.

In establishing his relations with his predecessor for the closing weeks of the Truman administration, Dulles had two major choices. He could:

1. Become temporarily a co-worker of Acheson and express his views on current foreign problems.
2. He could limit his acceptance of the administration's offer of all-out co-operation to the use of its facilities to learn about the task that will be his after Jan. 20.

Ohio County Auditors, Recorders Elect

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Mariam Yeazell, Clark County recorder, is the new president of the Ohio Association of County Recorders and Francis Longbrake, auditor of Logan County, is the new head of the Auditors Association.

The recorders also elected Vernon T. Shaw, Muskingum County, first vice president; Charles T. Heck, Montgomery County, second vice president; Virginia Lewis, Knox County, secretary, and Hilda Riggs, Morrow County, treasurer.

Auditor organization officers include Harry L. Smith, Hocking County, vice president; W. T. McCort, Belmont County, secretary, and Ulric T. Acton, Fayette County, treasurer.

IKE'S ECONOMIC GUIDE — Dr. Gabriel Hauge, above, has been appointed as President-elect Dwight Eisenhower's administrative assistant in charge of domestic and foreign economic affairs. The 38-year-old native of Hawley, Minn., who directed research for Eisenhower's personal staff during the campaign, is on leave from his post as an editorial page editor of Business Week.

Ohio Prison To Hire 30 More Guards

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Employment of 30 additional guards at Ohio Penitentiary has been authorized by the state welfare department, Warden Ralph W. Alvis said today.

The guards will give added security to the old prison where inmates rioted last Halloween.

Alvis said starting salaries for the new guards will be $264 monthly for tower and cellblock guards, and $288 monthly for "company" guards or those in direct contact with the inmates.

Applicants for the guard posts said Alvis, should be between 25 and 40 years of age.

With the 30 authorized new guards, the penitentiary guard staff will number 312.

Way Paved For Trustee Control Of Airline

WASHINGTON (AP)—The way was paved Thursday for an early decision by the Civil Aeronautics Board on a proposal for temporary control of Lake Central Airlines by a trustee until its sale can be approved.

This came about when Lake Central and CAB lawyers agreed at the end of a hearing to dispense with virtually all intermediate procedure and send the case right to the board for decision.

The only step remaining before the case goes to CAB is the filing of briefs by Dec. 15.

Lake Central operates in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Kentucky. It has asked to extend service across Ohio.

The CAB more than a month ago held the present management unit and suggested just such a trustee arrangement as it now is being asked to approve.

CAB said such an arrangement would be desirable so present Lake Central service could be continued and new services inaugurated while final sale of Lake Central to Wisconsin Central Airlines is being considered by the board—a process lasting from six to 18 months.

Lonely Hearts Writer Bilks Scores Of Men

PORTSMOUTH, O. (AP)—Scores of men in 15 states and Canada have been bilked by a lonely hearts letter writer in Portsmouth, a postal official reports.

Postal Inspector Lou Henry announced the arrest Thursday of Hobart Clay Barker, 27, and Virginia Buffington, 21, both of Portsmouth, on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Henry said both signed confessions.

He quoted Barker as saying he wrote letters to men, signing a woman's name, leading them on until they would invite their "feminine" correspondent to visit them. Then Barker would ask for an advance in cash to finance the trip. After the money arrived, he would break off the correspondence.

The postal inspector said Barker told him:

"I wrote the letters and Virginia would mail them and call for replies at various postoffices in Portsmouth, Chillicothe, Waverly and Jackson."

EX-RED CHARGED

AKRON, O. (AP)—Frank Hashmall, former Communist party official at Columbus, goes before Judge Thomas M. Powers again Jan. 7 on charges he registered an automobile falsely. The Municipal Court judge continued the preliminary hearing Thursday.

A Way of Doing Things

From many places and in many forms come expressions of hope that the United States may have ended the era of bad feeling which began with the "bloodless revolution" of the early thirties.

There is widespread confidence that Dwight Eisenhower will be president of all the people; that he will rise above the class warfare which occupied so much of Franklin Roosevelt's attention and became Harry Truman's political hobby.

There is a way of doing things in the United States which will help people to understand one another better. The president-elect will be able to find it. That will be a drastic and refreshing change after so many years of class being set against class in a cockeyed version of the old-world social struggle.

Dwight Eisenhower already has demonstrated great potentialities in this direction. During the presidential campaign he was smeared with every variety of innuendo used since the days when Charles Michelson was hired by the Democratic national committee to destroy Herbert Hoover's prestige after his election in 1928. But he did not lose his poise.

His adversaries, with more than 20 years of practice and with both Mr. Truman and Gov. Stevenson to read their speeches for them, made no headway. Even the propaganda departments of the labor unions were unable to hurt a man whose integrity and good intentions were so palpable they could not be destroyed by slanders and libels.

Yes, there is a way of doing things in the United States which will help people to understand one another better. If Dwight Eisenhower lives up to his potentialities for being president of all the people, the days of government by accusation, fear and hard feeling are numbered.

Ambassador Aldrich

Addition of Winthrop W. Aldrich to the list of Americans who have represented their government in England will mark a return to banking influence in Anglo-American relations.

Mr. Aldrich, who is perhaps the most influential banker of the day, will remind the British of Charles G. Dawes and Andrew W. Mellon, the two U.S. ambassadors named by Herbert Hoover for the coveted post in London.

Since then, the U.S. ambassador with the longest service in London has been John G. Winant, who was about as far from familiarity with money as a Yankee can get and still maintain self-respect. But even under the New and Fair Deals, Winant was an exception to the rule that it takes a man of means to uphold the prestige of the former colonies at St. James's.

Robert W. Bingham, Joseph P. Kennedy, Oliver Max Gardner, Lewis W. Douglas and Walter S. Gifford were the others. Gifford was a Republican when appointed and Douglas became an anti-Fair Dealer on the job. But the others were all bona fide Democrats throughout their tenure and never, except for Winant had to give ground on financial matters. All were successful private capitalists.

In an older day, possession of wealth was not considered indispensable in service at the Court of St. James's. James Russell Lowell represented America; so did Washington Irving for a brief time.

But in a time of heavy dependence on American productivity, perhaps it is essential that the British should be reminded that dollars do not grow on Christmas trees. They come from the efforts of capitalism—private capitalism, as distinct from state capitalism.

By The Neck

The hangings which a puppet court in Prague has decreed for 11 Czech Communists who for one reason or another lost their Moscow backing should cool off the hot ardor of some would-be Reds.

Grisly and horrible as these mock confessions and condemnations are, they serve a useful purpose in the non-Communist world. They automatically eliminate some of the potential Communists of the future.

Whether it's hanging by the neck, or kneeling against a wall and waiting for a bullet in the head, the ultimate reward which awaits all members of the Communist conspiracy is not a bright inducement. It does not offer the prospect of martyrdom.

In the political quation of the Communist conspiracy, an individual is zero. He can be ordered to die without regard to his dignity. When the time came for the Czech Communist leaders to die, they ceased to be individuals with personal rights and became items in a political slaughterhouse.

Since all but three are Jews and their alleged "crime" was a Zionist-Trotskyite plot against Stalin, it should be somewhat more difficult from now on to persuade Jews that Moscow offers them anything better than a noose around their necks when their usefulness is ended.

Batching it while the wife is away is what a married man looks forward to and is darn glad when it's over.

Repair Job Needed

Ike's Staff Bungled Cabinet Announcement

There's a bit of clumsiness, if not political amateurishness, in the way the Eisenhower appointments to the Cabinet have been handled. While a good Cabinet has been selected, the process by which the decisions were arrived at may rise to plague the new administration unless it faces some realities about Washington habits and manners as well as traditions.

Sen. Taft should not have been provoked into expressing displeasure about the way the Cabinet appointments were arranged. Yet to say this is not to imply that any other men should have been selected for the Cabinet posts. There is a right way and a wrong way to play ball on a team, and the evidence thus far indicates that members of the Eisenhower staff are going to have to learn their "inside baseball" the hard way.

This is regrettable because, when a "rift" starts between a new president and the man on whom he must depend for legislative co-operation in Congress, it doesn't mean merely that a difference has arisen between two individuals. It means that a cleavage of factionalism begins, and this tends to cause legislators to line up one side or the other.

Obviously the Eisenhower staff doesn't want to develop that kind of problem to add to the many other problems that will confront the new administration anyhow in the matter of appointments.

Every new president has a tremendous power with Congress because he has so many favors to dispense. A president need not appoint incompetent persons just because a senator or representative recommends them. But, more often, when a dozen names are available and they are all good men, the balance can turn in favor of a friend of a member of Congress.

The making of such an appointment tends more to enhance the prestige of the senator or representative with his constituents than it does to create any real obligation as between the appointee and the member of Congress. In every state and district a senator or representative who appears to be powerful enough to "get things done" in Washington for his home area thereby adds to his political strength with the electorate.

On the matter of Cabinet appointments, it has been stated that Sen. Taft feels that Gen. Eisenhower should have cleared them with the senators whose constituents were being selected for these high offices, and that this is a Republican tradition. This is sometimes called a gesture of "courtesy." But it is a tradition often broken in the past.

If, moreover, Gen. Eisenhower had asked Sen. Dirksen of Illinois whether or not to appoint Martin P. Durkin as secretary of labor, the chances are the Illinois senator would have given a negative answer, and this would have gotten into the headlines as a "rift" between the president-elect and the Illinois senator.

Sometimes the president tells a senator of his intention to appoint a man from his state, but does not ask for his opinion. There is really no rule about it and no necessity to clear Cabinet appointments with senators and representatives.

There is, however, in the present situation as between Sen. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower a peculiar set of circumstances. One man beat the other for the presidential nomination, and then the loser turned around and did the traditional thing by supporting wholeheartedly the nominee of the convention. Hence it would have been tactful and politically wise if Gen. Eisenhower had sat down with Sen. Taft and told him why he planned to make certain appointments.

It was a courtesy to which the Ohio senator was entitled, and Mr. Taft would have been the first to say that the president-elect had a right to make his own decisions. What will tend to produce friction and difficulty for the future is a tendency on the part of Gen. Eisenhower to deal with certain problems on a so-called "staff command" basis. He certainly cannot delegate to any member of his Cabinet or to any assistant president or to anybody else the job of personal relations with Sen. Taft or any of the other leaders.

Unless there is a constant and free interchange of views at first hand, the Eisenhower administration is in for trouble.

In the Eisenhower entourage are men who may think they are familiar with national problems from what they have read in the papers, but not one of them seems to have had any experience in the delicate matter of relationship between the executive and the legislative branches of the government on political questions. There is no substitute for experience in this domain.

Other administrations have had the same handicap at the start, and yet it need not become serious if the newcomers really grasp the fundamental point, which is that party harmony is as essential after a campaign as it was during the campaign.

When the general designated Herbert Brownell, the new attorney general, to "screen" Cabinet appointments, he was turning over to a Dewey man something that anybody would have told him could mean friction. Mr. Brownell should have been warned by the President-elect to be careful to consult Sen. Taft all along the line. He isn't likely to make the same mistake again.

Errors like these are not unnatural with the president-elect virtually forced by events and his trip to Korea to appoint his Cabinet within the first few weeks after election.

When the president-elect gets back from Korea, he will find he will have to do a repair job of no small importance to the success of his legislative program in Congress.

A Good Example

By TRUMAN TWILL

Looking with bemused pleasure this day at the birthday picture of Winston Churchill and his lady—Mr. England now has attained the age of 78—I fell to thinking of another birthday closer to home.

The lady who fed me, fussed over me and sent me on my way will be 81. In her way, she is as remarkable as the world's favorite Englishman. She too has refused to let the encroaching years crowd her to the sidelines.

In some respects, moreover, she is close to unique among persons of her age group. She has no physical impairments. All her senses, including her sense of humor, are acute.

She is irreconcilably addicted to activity as a way of life. It is as out of character for her to vegetate as it would be for a carrot to jump out of the ground and climb a tree.

When it was reported here last summer that she had visited the West Coast, stopping over in Chicago for her first appearance on radio and taking her first plane ride on the way home, there was a good deal of interest in the idea that the way to grow old and be old gracefully is never to give in to age.

It takes spunk—the same kind it takes to crawl out of bed and play ball at any age past 40, only lots more of it, to play ball at 80.

The easy way is to give in and give up. That's why millions who dread growing old get a warm glow out of the Winston Churchills and the Bernard Baruchs. These famous men feel as good as they ever felt, for about 15 minutes a day, as the joke goes. But they never surrender to age.

Blessed is the family with an aged member who sets a good example. It brightens what otherwise is the grim, bleak and gloomy prospect of trudging down the nether slope.

There are better ways than trudging. There are skiing, dancing, trotting and walking with the head high.

It takes spunk when the feet falter and the path grows steep. That's why good examples are needed. There's never any lack of bad examples, which makes the good ones that much more important.

Happy birthday, belatedly, to Mr. England, who has been a good example for a whole nation, and to a lady who has been a good example to only a few hundred of us—her children and her friends.

Look Who's Steering

Vishinsky And Korea

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

It startled many of the U.N. delegates, including American and British officials, when Vishinsky pushed himself out of the regular order to speak against the Indian plan, which from no standpoint can be regarded as favorable to the United States.

The gist of the Indian proposal is that a United Nations commission of five be appointed to deal with the question of prisoners of war, two from Communist nations, two from neutral nations, with an umpire.

TO GRASP WHY Vishinsky jumped the gun in this curious way, one has to go back to the bible of Stalinism, the "Foundations of Leninism," written by none other than Joe Stalin, himself.

This book is a blueprint for Soviet action and it answers many obscure questions. For this must never be forgotten: the Russians do not employ empirical means in the course of building their empire.

They have set goals from which they never deviate. Their line may zig-zag but the goal is fixed. And their ultimate aim is a world Bolshevik revolution. So let us quote an interesting passage which is directly pertinent to the Vishinsky response to the Indian proposal for the settlement of the Korean War:

"Tactics are the determination of the line of conduct of the proletariat for the comparatively short period of the ebb or flow of the movement, of the rise or decline of the revolution, the struggle to carry out this line by replacing old forms of struggle and of organization by new ones, old slogans by new ones, by combining these forms, etc. While the aim of strategy is to win the war... against the bourgeoisie, to carry the struggle... to its end, tactics concern themselves with less important aims as they strive, not to win the war as a whole, but rather to win a particular engagement, or a particular battle; to carry through successfully a particular campaign or action corresponding to the concrete circumstances of the rise or decline of the revolution. Tactics are a part of strategy, subordinate and subservient to it."

LENIN, with a tiny party, unfavorably received by most of his countrymen, with a small leadership of a handful of intellectuals, conquered his own country by sheer impudence at a moment of political vacuum. But conquering Russia, even in 1917, was no small matter. It gave to theoretical Marxism, a base with the largest land area on earth and about 180,000,000 people.

Lenin's problem was to reorientate this people into Bolshevism. Trotsky rebuilt it as a military force. Stalin developed it into an industrialized state capable of modern military action.

These three built the new Russian Empire. To Stalin goes the further credit of duping Franklin D. Roosevelt and of achieving for Russia the position of the second world state—second only to the United States.

IN HUMAN history, the second has always insisted upon becoming first and that has been cause of the great wars. Since 1943, the active aim of Soviet Russia has been the destruction of the United States.

As matters now stand, the Korean War is a Russian instrument for bleeding the United States economically while pinning down American forces in an untenable position. Every effort that American diplomacy and military strategy has made to free itself from the Korean War has thus far been thwarted by Soviet Russia which does not want that war to end.

We are precisely where we were in June 1951 while the Communists have improved their military position and have made our alliance with Great Britain precarious. The real danger is that should Aneurin Bevan ever reach power in Great Britain the Russians would have the advantage in that country which would then become neutral but in the hands of Socialists.

John Foster Dulles the impending secretary of state is a student of Marxist and Stalinist doctrine and he ought to be in a position to anticipate rather than to follow Stalin's moves.

The advantage to us is that Stalin does not wander far from orthodox Leninism; Stalin's advantage heretofore has been the ignorance of our statesmen on this subject.

Britons Misinformed

By RAYMOND MOLEY

It is reported from Britain that some newspaper editors and proprietors over there are beginning to wonder whether their correspondents in the United States really knew what they have been writing about.

They may well wonder, for they have been publishing a running commentary on our politics that is a prize example of misleading, distorted, careless, prejudiced and erroneous reporting.

I have long been disturbed by this matter and since the election I have gathered a mountain of evidence which proves every one of the five adjectives in the foregoing sentence. Space permits here only one specimen reporter neither better nor worse than several who write for important British papers.

Alistair Cooke is a person of some consequence. He lists himself as chief correspondent in the United States for the Manchester Guardian and commentator on American affairs for the British Broadcasting Corp.

He has recently been selected as master of ceremonies for the Ford Foundation television program. His commentaries are also broadcast by radio in the United States. Mr. Cooke is one of a number of British correspondents over here who, with apparently little effort to survey the country as a whole, are content to exchange views with a group of American newspapermen very limited in number and in outlook. In short, he has taken his bearings from the provincialism of New York and Washington.

One firm tenet of this group is that Sen. Taft and those who support him are hopelessly obtuse, reactionary, and corrupt.

For example, this appeared in the Manchester Guardian, in the American reports on June 19 of this year:

"Taft's men, defying one of the few ethical customs discernible in the raw struggle of a convention, have managed to get two Taftites as keynote speaker and temporary chairman."

Another tenet was the blind acceptance of Democratic propaganda asserting that the Republican party was hopelessly shattered. On July 10, this appeared in the same paper:

"It is a question whether any sizeable Republican vote can be corralled from the wounded remnants of two snarling camps inside the party."

Next, the group decided that Stevenson should and would win. On September 4 Mr. Cooke predicted:

"Eisenhower is going to have a hard time topping 200 votes. My own guess just now, for whatever its idle worth would be that Stevenson will wind up with something like 300 votes to Eisenhower's 231."

Now, having ventured his wishful prediction, he sought to rationalize it. On October 9 he asserted:

"The Republicans are undoubtedly united in an outside bed where there is room for everybody except the few liberals who got the general's nomination. The general has made up to every member of the Old Guard who has fought down the years everything he was supposed to stand for."

Then, during October, he and many others were drinking in deep draughts of the Democratic propaganda that Stevenson was "gaining," that Eisenhower had fallen heavily between sulking Deweyites and sullen machine Taffites.

But on the eve of the election, on October 31, something seemed to move Mr. Cooke. In a BBC broadcast, to hedge. While still implying that the electorate would vote according to the "money in their pockets," he confessed that he did not know how the election would come out.

His commentary was frothy, mostly irrelevant, and wholly devoid of any evidence that he had really tried to learn anything beyond the limited knowledge of his journalistic cronies in New York and Washington.

In another column I shall offer some quotes from Mr. Cooke's broadcasts after the election.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Down In Mexico

The sun is bright and warm in Mexico, the foliage more brilliant, the music softer, the people gayer, and the critics fewer. You can't beat the hours. Not a Mexican answers to the name of Kefauver; no gaucha responds to a Carey or Halley. Bill O'Dwyer's health is not too good, and there is nothing in New York that would improve it.

If he has a mood of self-pity over his own troubles he can always go to the bull ring and watch the guy with the rep cape down there in the main event where "I object." "That question is immaterial" and "Let me explain it through a prepared statement" can do him no good.

Under the circumstances, can you blame him if he isn't too keen for a return to Gotham, even assuming he could tell all with the rugged fearlessness that was in his eyes, manner and fists in the days when he lugged bricks, fired steamship boilers, pounded the pavements, studied law at night and rose to the top in the Horatio Alger manner?

New York would like to feel that "Senor" O'Dwyer would and could come clean, emerging as fine a man as he seemed to be most of the journey from the bottom up. There are those who think he could come through okay, except for possible exposure as a fellow who, in his later years, became too tolerant of scandalous situations and there are those who insist he was in up to his neck and has no convincing "out."

This writer, a little naive perhaps, wishes the man who landed in New York with $25 in his jeans and came to be mayor of the biggest city on earth could come slugging back in a position to meet all comers and clear his name for Bill O'Dwyer, any way you take him, is a remarkable guy with a story-book career.

He landed in America with, as previously stated, only $25 and was a long time running it up to $26. He began as a fireman or coal passer on excursion boats and tramp steamers. (The heat down there wasn't any hotter than it was years after he reached status as a first-class passenger on the ship of state.)

He was a hod carrier on the Woolworth Building, but didn't dream there were so many bricks in the world as he saw in the Kefauver inquiry. He was a bartender in the Vanderbilt Hotel and was never accused of anything worse than using the same maraschino cherry twice or saying, "I'll take a cigar, thanks," and putting it back in the box.

He was a plasterer. And nobody charged him with confusing it with whitewash. He joined the police force, never dreaming a day would come when he might prefer a beat on the Rio Grande.

He studied law nights, passed his bar exams, became judge of a children's court, finished off "Murder Incorporated," served in the Army and came to be burgomaster of New York... all in the American pattern that stirs the heart and mind.

And then — Whamo! — A sickening story of civic corruption and graft, with the hero mixed up in the evidence... and quitting as mayor to become ambassador to Mexico.

What? happen? We wish Bill could look at the cactus in Gotham and not find it any less comfortable than the cactus below the Rio Grande. Even when the questioner said, "Won't you sit down?"

We never met him in our life. But we hate to see the first 200 pages of "Horatio Alger" wind up with a final fifty that ain't pretty.

SISTER KENNY

The children who can walk again, Now wave as to a faroff shore... With tearful eyes they get the word That Sister Kenny is no more. And in that Heaven of the young Where once-afflicted children roam There is a cheering like a song As one who gripped their hearts comes home!

Speaking of football, what makes telecasters think it's a bright idea to deprive the audience of the colorful scenes and music between halves to bring on a dull close-up interview with somebody?

Looking Backward

From The News Files

FORTY YEARS AGO—Amity Lodge, I.O. O.F., elected O. R. Barrett, H. H. Wilkinson, Charles Troupe, C. F. Lease, W. P. Davis, F. L. Stewart and J. C. Sorg as officers for the coming year.

Louis Schnurrenberger of Tenth St. attended the K. of P. anniversary celebration in Greenford Thursday.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—All principal work has been done on remodeled Reilly athletic field except the placing of the last layer of clay and cinders on the new quarter mile track, and owing to wet and freezing weather it will be impossible to do this part until spring.

The Science club of Salem High School held its first regular meeting Monday with an enrolled membership of 22. The club elected its officers at its meeting. They are Charles Bennett, Wade Loop and Adelaide Dyball.

TEN YEARS AGO—The United States now is producing the engines of war in a volume equal to the combined combat armaments production of the Axis powers, according to Donald M. Nelson, War Production Board chief. Mrs. Hobart Butcher, Mrs. Charles Hum and Mrs. Burrows Jones were appointed to the nominating committee when the Ladies Aid Society of the Christian Church met.

FIVE YEARS AGO—The United States, Canada and the Netherlands agreed on a formula for settling conflicting claims to German enemy assets but Great Britain and France refused to go along.

Donald Rober was in charge of games and Mrs. Harold Tolson gave a reading when members of the Berean Class of the First Friends Church held a turkey dinner at Greenford Grange hall. Samuel Rea, Jr., is president.

State Governments Council Suggests Uniform Primaries

CHICAGO (AP)—The Council of State Governments has suggested that presidential primaries in the states be held on the same date.

Such primaries now are stretched out, state by state, from March through June.

The council passed along this idea to state lawmakers:

It would be highly desirable for the states to fix identical dates for presidential primaries, preferably a date within about a month of the national conventions.

"This would avoid the present unduly long period of the pre-convention campaign and would encourage all leading candidates to enter the primaries of all states instead of a few."

The council said only 19 states now give their citizens a chance to take a direct hand in selecting the presidential nominees of the major parties.

There are two methods of doing this. Under one, the citizens can express their preference for the nomination by voting in a preferential primary. Under the other the citizens vote for delegates to the national convention of their parties.

The council said present primary laws have been criticized because of variations in dates and provisions. Results in some states are binding on convention delegates, for instance, but not in others.

But it also said: "There is little sentiment today for a nation-wide presidential primary whose results would be final, displacing the national conventions."

A more likely course, it added, would be to:

1. Keep presidential primary laws on the books of the states which have them, and make efforts to correct defects and bring about uniformity.

2. Give the other states time to adopt some form of presidential primary or popular election of convention delegates.

It then suggested the vote on the same date, feature to states which want to revise older laws or enact new ones.

The presidential primary suggestion was among the recommendations for state legislation drafted by the council and placed before representatives of the states today.

The occasion was the start of sessions of the 11th General Assembly of the States. This is a biennial meeting of governors and other state officials.

Damascus

Quilting and sewing occupied the time when the Missionary Auxiliary of the Friends Church was entertained by Mrs. V. D. Mercer Wednesday.

"BROKEN" HEART MENDED—Harold Richard Duffy, 13, of Linton, Ind., calmly reads magazines after undergoing a new-type heart operation, at Indiana University Medical Center, in Indianapolis. Harold was born with an opening between two chambers of the heart, and doctors made an incision in the right side of the chest wall to reach the heart, and close the opening, in what is believed to be the first operation of its kind to be performed on a human being.

French Premier Pinay Given Confidence Vote

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly has voted renewed confidence in Premier Antoine Pinay and cleared the way for immediate consideration of his budget.

Pinay won by the comfortable margin of 320 to 212, according to unofficial figures. Supporters of Gen. Charles De Gaulle abstained.

Immediately after the vote, the Assembly went to work on consideration of the budget, which may be debated until the end of this month.

The season of the Northern Columbiana Community Concert Association opened Wednesday evening in the High School auditorium with the program of Camilla Williams, soprano, whose performance was described as outstanding.

The next concert which members of the local association may attend is Friday, Dec. 12, in Alliance High School when Frances Bible, leading mezzo-soprano of the New York Opera Company will sing. Appearing in Salem Jan. 19 will be "The Carolers."

Navy League To Give Award Of Merit

WASHINGTON — The Navy League's Award of Merit, given annually to a Navy man whose services have contributed to the national defense but have not been recognized otherwise, will go tonight to Lt. Cmdr. Frederick J. Lewis Jr., of Lexington, Ky.

Cmdr. Lewis, 34, was cited for directing the special unit at the Naval Medical Field Research Laboratory at Camp Lejeune, N. C., which developed the laminated plastic vest now being used by all Marines fighting in Korea.

Lausche Urges Gas Tax Hike

Support Asked For Truck Ton-Mile Tax

CINCINNATI (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche Thursday night asked members of the Ohio Municipal League to support revenue-raising measures which will provide money for modernizing the state's highways.

The governor spoke at the dinner of the Municipal League which is holding its annual convention here.

To help raise the money which he said would be needed to modernize Ohio's roads, the governor said he favored a one-cent a gallon increase in gasoline taxes and a ton-mile tax on trucks.

The increased gasoline tax, he said, would raise 22 million dollars a year while the ton-mile tax would raise 28 million a year.

Referring to claims that the ton-mile tax would cost too much to collect, Lausche said he estimated there would be only an eight per cent collection cost.

He said the cost of collection of the ton-mile tax in Utah is 11 per cent and that New York has found the tax "highly justified" and the collections simple.

Gov. Lausche told the municipal officials he would not recommend any new taxes during his term of office.

Instead, he said, he would fight to stop leaks in three Ohio revenue-producing mediums.

As No. 1 he said Ohio lost four million dollars a year in the last two years by the failure of the Ohio Legislature to raise the tax on race track operations.

He said the second loss of revenue was in the collection of sales tax. He advocated a higher charge to merchants for sales tax stamps. They now pay $98 for a $100 worth.

The third spot he said was in the liquor department. He said earnings of the Ohio liquor department were less than in other states with liquor monopolies and that in Ohio liquor was $1 cheaper than in other states.

May Seek To Exempt Casualties' Kin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) said today he may seek a draft law change to exempt from combat duty any service man who has lost a close relative in battle.

The sole surviving son of a family thus stricken already is exempt under current military policy, the Defense Department told Ayres, however, that policy cannot now be liberalized "in fairness to all personnel who are called upon to share the hazards of combat."

Maj. Gen. William E. Bergin, Army adjutant general, wrote Ayres the policy will be relaxed further whenever conditions permit.

Commission Still Seeks Natural Gas Pipeline

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The state utilities commission wants the Federal Power Commission to rescind its order rejecting a proposal to build a natural gas pipeline from Texas to Ohio.

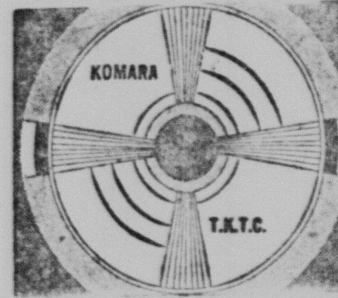

The state body Thursday said the FPC was "arbitrary and unreasonable" in turning down the Texas-Ohio Co.'s request.

Commission members said the pipeline would help alleviate the critical five-year shortage of natural gas in the state.

$8½ Million Ohio Real Estate Sold

CLEVELAND (AP)—An 8½ million dollar real estate deal involving a number of buildings in downtown Cleveland and one plot in Toledo is all but complete, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said today.

The paper named Theodore W. Berenson of Boston the buyer and quoted him as saying no changes in tenancy or management of the structures is being considered.

On Cleveland's Euclid Ave. the sale includes the Colonial Arcade, the Central National Bank Bldg., the Crawford Bldg., the Nottingham Bldg., and the land under the Halle Bros. Co. store. Other properties are on Sixth, Prospect, Vincent and Ninth Sts. and on Huron Rd.

The plot in Toledo is the site of that city's largest Woolworth store.

Seller would be the Realty Investment Co., which is owned by the heirs of Ralph Thrall King.

Harry Keylor Named President Of Columbiana Boosters Club

COLUMBIANA—Officers for 1953 were elected by the Booster Club at its December meeting in the High School building Wednesday evening. Installation will be held Jan. 7, when these new officers will take over:

Harry Keylor, president; William Newell, vice president; Wilder Forch, secretary, re-elected; John Fitzpatrick, treasurer; Harry Eberhardt, Art. Rohrer and Principal Gayle Gloss of the High School, directors for one year. The retiring officers are also members of the board of directors.

Plans were made for the annual minstrel show, moved up this year from April to Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 13 and 14. Earl Kirtley is general chairman of the show, Hal Johnson, publicity chairman, Lee Harrold stage manager, and William Allen, ticket manager.

Immediate reports of membership tickets are urged by Secretary Foertch.

AN IMPORTANT FACTOR in the decline in parking meter receipts reported to village council Tuesday evening is the change of many stores from Saturday night to Friday night business hours. Council discussed several months ago making Friday night instead of Saturday night a meter night, or adding Friday and making both nights meter nights, but action was deferred to determine whether the change in store hours would be permanent.

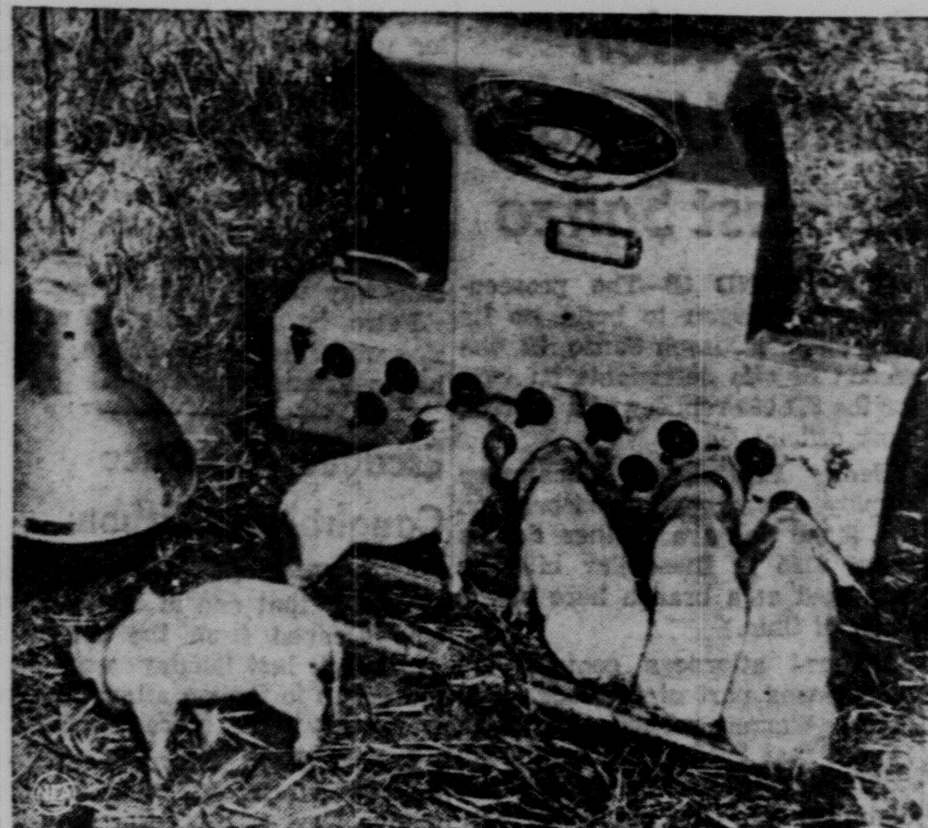

It was argued in favor of two meter nights that one or the other set of merchants has the advantage of free parking when there is only one meter night.

Christmas seal sales in Columbiana village and Fairfield township amount to about $1,000 to date toward the quota of $2,340, which is about normal for the stage of the drive, Chairman Mark Klingensmith reports. Mr. Klingensmith is also chairman for the Columbiana county Boy Scout fund drive in areas outside community chest bounds, and reports that the county is about $4,000 short of its $21,000 goal. Four municipalities, Columbiana, Lisbon, Salem and East Liverpool, provide in their community chests for Boy Scout work. Columbiana allots $1,400 to the cause.

H-Bomb Materials May Be Tamed For Peaceful Uses

WASHINGTON (AP)—An atomic scientist came up today with the first public explanation on how hydrogen bomb materials might be tamed for peaceful uses, such as power.

Electricity discharged through a thin wire might set off a "slowed down" reaction which could be controlled for various purposes. Dr. George Gamow told a reporter.

He said there are other "theoretically possible" techniques that might be even better, but he declined to amplify.

Up until recently the general view, including that of most top scientists, has been that atomic energy could be released from hydrogen only through a terrific explosion.

Gamow, internationally-known theoretical physicist who serves as a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission, made the comments when asked about a recent statement by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), a member of the joint congressional atomic committee.

Hickenlooper said that "the hydrogen picture contains some hope, in time, for peaceful and constructive applications."

The senator's statement provided the first indication that atomic officials see a possibility of using hydrogen fusion reactions for something other than projected H-bombs. The AEC has said nothing along that line.

The consensus of most top scientists has been not only that fusion would involve an explosion in itself—but also that it would have to be triggered by an exploding A-bomb.

Hickenlooper's statement was described by the Federation of American Scientists as "more startling to scientists outside the AEC than the 'news' and rumors of a hydrogen bomb...."

Dr. Gamow said he didn't know what Hickenlooper had in mind.

But he told a reporter that it's at least theoretically possible to get a "slowed-down" atomic reaction with hydrogen bomb materials by causing a powerful electric discharge through a thin wire placed in such materials.

VOTING OFFICIALS INDICTED

CLEVELAND (AP)—Five more voting booth officials have been indicted on charges of illegally marking ballots in the May primary. This brings to 11, the number indicted in the probe started last August. All of the new indictments returned Thursday and most of the others involve Ward 12, a predominantly Negro section.

Award 56th Medal Of Honor

GI Killed Protecting Withdrawal Of Platoon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's highest military award—the Medal of Honor—has been bestowed on a Mississippi soldier who fought to the death to protect the withdrawal of his comrades from a mist shrouded hill in Korea.

He is Pfc. Mack A. Jordan, 22 years old when he gave his life last Nov. 15, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Jordan of Collins, Miss.

The 56th Medal of Honor announced by the Army for gallantry beyond and above the call of duty in Korea was awarded Pfc. Jordan for his lone and voluntary charge of a Communist unit which had hurled back an American advance.

An eyewitness account of Jordan's heroic deeds was given the Army by his platoon leader, 2nd Lt. Edward F. Sheehan of Brockton, Mass.

The platoon launched an attack on an enemy hill position under cover of darkness and mist. Near the crest the Americans were halted, then thrown back by a hail of enemy small arms and automatic weapons fire and a shower of grenades.

While the rest of the platoon started to fall back, Jordan crawled forward. He knocked out one machine gun nest with grenades and rifle fire. The surviving Reds withdrew to nearby positions, and Jordan tried to follow.

Before Jordan could clear the nest he had just captured the Reds rolled a packet of explosives down the hill. The blast blew off both of the American soldier's legs. Despite these wounds Jordan continued to fire.

His comrades found him still fighting when they moved back up the hill. He was given first aid on the spot, then carried to the battalion aid station, but died on the way to the regimental collecting position.

Atom Plant Seen Using 3½ Million Tons Of Coal

CLEVELAND (AP)—The new atomic plant to be erected in Southern Ohio will use some 3½ million tons of coal a year, W. H. McGarry, manager of the Ore & Coal Exchange here, estimates.

He said that in addition the electric plants supplying power for the atomic project will use 14½ million tons a year.

There are about 70 species of pine tree.

Noll, a company aidman, entered the Army in April 1951. He was employed by Gordon's Soft Water Supply in civilian life.

Injury Case Heard

LISBON—A jury was seated Thursday to try a case in which a New Waterford man is seeking to collect $7,000 for injuries received in an accident in Lisbon, May 18, 1949.

Harry L. Pegg is asking for the amount from John Stapleton and Clifford Shaw, both of Lisbon, and the Shaw & Stapleton Co. of Lisbon.

Pegg claims he was injured when a plow and hoist fell on him when he was standing in a lot used by the men in their farm machinery business.

Prosecution Builds Up Case Against Sanzo

CLEVELAND (AP)—The prosecution today began to build up its case against Joseph Sanzo, 22, the second of two defendants on trial for the $71,000 robbery of a Warren bank official.

Henry Prijital, a delicatessen employee, was summoned back on the stand to give further details about $155 in five-dollar bills he deposited at a branch here of the Bank of Ohio.

Federal attorneys contend the money was part of the loot taken in the Warren robbery last Aug. 14 and that Prijital innocently got possession of it. The government claims it was first passed by Sanzo.

Victim of the bold daylight robbery was Charles Foley, 36, a cashier who was carrying the money from one branch of the Union Savings & Trust Co. to another.

Detective Lt. Thomas P. White of the Cleveland police department testified Thursday Julius Petro, 30 admitted placing $500 worth of the stolen cash in a savings hideaway used by his mother.

Petro, he said, made the admission after being taken to police headquarters Oct. 4.

Escapee Was Once Caught Near Lisbon

LISBON—It was revealed here Thursday that one of the convicts who escaped from the prison at Pittsburgh last Sunday was once picked up in Lisbon after escaping from the same place in 1948.

Officer Leon Zahndt captured Andrew White, 31, and a companion Nov. 4, 1948 after they had tried to force a Kensington man to drive them to Youngstown.

Truman, Adlai Look To '54

Won't Try To Hamper Ike's Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman and Adlai Stevenson, trained the defeated Democratic party's sights today on victory in 1954 without endangering the nation's welfare.

The retiring President and the man who tried in vain to be his successor yesterday summed up in that way the goals decided upon during their White House meetings.

In separate news conferences during the day, they said Republican President-elect Eisenhower's administration will get a fair chance to show what it can do.

The Democratic party, they said, will try to wipe out its campaign deficit and then go after recapturing Congress in the 1954 elections.

Front line leadership will come from Democrats in Congress but party members outside Congress will be free to express their views, they said.

Above all, as Stevenson put it, "Party interests must be subordinated to the interests of the country and the public welfare."

The Illinois governor, who like Truman will be out of public office next year, came to the White House Wednesday night to discuss the Democratic party's future.

He had planned to leave today but decided to spend the night as guest of Air Force Secretary Finletter and fly back to Illinois about noon tomorrow.

Stevenson received newsmen first yesterday after attending a White House session with Truman, the President's staff and other party leaders. He told reporters:

"We do not intend to try to influence Democrats in Congress to obstruct, delay or in any way imperil the national welfare and the new administration's program insofar as it is compatible with the views of our party."

He said the Democrats' two big problems are to pay off a half million dollar deficit and to "serve the public interest."

A few hours later Truman told his news conference, when asked to discuss his meeting with Stevenson, that the governor's report earlier was entirely correct. He said they discussed plans for keeping the party alive so it can take over Congress again in 1954.

Truman declined to comment on Eisenhower's Cabinet appointments, saying a comment in advance never does anybody any good. He said he wanted to give the new administration a chance to operate and, if it gets along all right, will be just as happy as anybody else.

Any mistakes will certainly be pointed out by the Democratic party, he added.

Both Stevenson and Truman refused to go into detail about their personal plans for the future. Truman said he had had all sorts of offers but is thinking now only about taking a rest. Stevenson said he wants to rest and possibly travel abroad.

Stevenson was the guest of President and Mrs. Truman at a White House "farewell dinner" last night for Cabinet members and their wives, as well as for former Truman Cabinet officers and their wives. Stevenson's sister, Mrs. Ernest L. Ives, also attended with her husband.

Stevenson told his news conference he knows of no plans for a change in the Democratic National Committee's top leadership, although he said a reorganization may be needed to overcome the financial deficit.

Truman's news conference rambled amiably and produced nothing startling. His other responses to questions included statements that:

1. He thinks Martin P. Durkin, Eisenhower's choice for secretary of labor, is a good man. The appointment of Durkin, a Democrat who supported Stevenson, was called "incredible" by Republican Sen. Taft of Ohio.

2. He believes Eisenhower will continue the system of regular news conferences. He said these are unique to the United States and keep the public informed.

3. He would like to attend Queen Elizabeth's coronation in London next June but will be too busy.

4. His next address will be 219 North Delaware St., Independence, Mo., and he will not have the fence around the place torn down because of souvenir hunters.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
The Doctor Answers

An annoying and common condition of the colder months of the year is the subject of today's first inquiry.

Q—Each winter the skin on my finger tips cracks. What causes this and what is the best remedy?
—E. R. M.

A—In all probability this condition is the result of coming in contact with some irritating substance such as soap, alcohol, dyes on clothing, or even the nickel plating of safety pins. If it can be traced to soap, the use of some soap substitute cleansing agent may be helpful.

The use of an ointment with a wool fat or petrolatum base may be used, but a few people are also sensitive to the former. Avoidance of contact with anything which proves irritating is a desirable measure, and in some cases large doses of vitamin A should be considered.

Q—Can married individuals cause much harm to themselves either physical or mental by forced celibacy for an indefinite period of time?
—Mrs. E.

A—Direct physical harm would not be expected, but the mental strain under such circumstances could be considerable and might lead to various symptoms of a nervous nature.

Q—Please write on keratosis. What is it and how should it be treated?
—Reader.

A—Keratosis really means any kind of horny growth on the skin such as a wart or a callus. There are several varieties. One which appears in elderly people is rather important because it can turn into cancer.

Q—I am 58 years old and some mornings find blood in my nose, sometimes on one side and sometimes on both. What can be done for this?
—Mrs. F. K. D.

A—You should have your doctor look at the inside of your nose to see if there is not an ulcer present or some other definite process which explains the nosebleeds.

Q—My legs and ankles swell up. Please tell me what could cause this.
—Mike.

A—The most common cause of swelling of the legs and ankles is edema or dropsy, resulting either from heart disease or disease of the kidneys. Both of these have serious possibilities, and you should not let this go without making an effort to find out what is the cause.

Q—What is the right treatment for a fissure near the outlet of the bowel? Is dabbing with a weak solution of alcohol helpful?
—Mrs. L.

A—Almost always the best treatment for this condition is an operation. It is extremely doubtful that dabbing with a weak solution of alcohol will help the fissure to heal.

They included: Kilgore, Inc., Westerville, $5,479,802; shells; Ohio Steel Foundry Co., Lima, $1,251,910; breech ring castings, Republic Steel Corp., Canton, $187,234; steel bins.

Earthslide Buries Timber Cutter

ARISTA, W. Va. (AP)—A timber cutter was buried under a huge earthslide on a mountain in Southern West Virginia yesterday.

Another worker escaped when the onslaught of earth slid down Herndon Mountain, across a small valley and part way up the side of the opposite mountain.

Domenick Romano of Bluefield, W. Va., a partner in a firm which is doing strip mining work on coal fields in the area, said the man who was buried apparently ran the wrong way in an effort to escape.

His body was not recovered and he was presumed dead.

Identities of the two workmen were not immediately available.

Raiders Shoot Up Chinese Outpost

SEOUL (AP)—Allied raiders shot up a Chinese outpost on the Western Korean Front near Munsan Thursday, killed an estimated 58 Reds and then withdrew to the main United Nations line.

Sub-zero temperatures discouraged action along most of the front. Allied artillery duelled with the Communist guns early today. Spotters reported 31 Communist bunkers were hit.

South Koreans standing firm on Sniper Ridge, on the Central Front, repulsed Chinese squads probing the icy slopes.

Okinawa-based Superforts blasted a big supply center at Cholsan in extreme Northwestern Korea, some 25 miles southeast of the Communist jet fighter base at Antung, Manchuria. The B29s bucked 100 mile-an-hour winds to reach the target. Pilots reported flames and smoke billowing over the supply base.

his journey across the Pacific and his stay in this war-torn land was not lifted until his plane was one hour in flight tonight and well beyond danger of attack.

The general's visits to combat units near the front did not take him into the front lines. The military and the Secret Service were careful to see that he did not go beyond division headquarters—usually three or four miles from the actual battlefield—for security reasons. The greatest risks ap-

Mahoning Boy Scout Council Names Officers

Scouters and their wives of the Big Waters District of the Mahoning Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, held their annual meeting at the Mount Moriah Lutheran Church in Berlin Center Thursday evening.

Heading the list of next year's officers is William Stanford of Sebring, president of the Stanford Art Pottery, who will again serve as district chairman.

Other officers elected were: J. M. Badertscher of Sebring, vice-chairman; and Carl Auman of Damascus, vice-chairman. Members-at-large, Frank Seffens, DeWayne Jones, Frank Conny and Arthur Speakman, all of Sebring.

Explorer Scout John Badertscher of Sebring told last night of his experiences at the Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico, which he and 20 other Explorers of the Mahoning Valley Council visited last summer.

Other speakers were Cub Butch Eells, of Pack 82 in Beloit; Scout Bruce Ruggles of Troop 79 in Damascus; and Explorer George Hindall of Troop 76 in Sebring.

An impressive induction ceremony for the new officers was conducted by Badertscher, with the assistance of Cub Eells, Scout Ruggles, and Explorer Hindall.

Greetings of the Mahoning Valley Council were brought to the group by the scout executive, Henry E. Katschke. Also present from the Youngstown office of the Boy Scouts was Assistant Scout Executive Walter D. Holloway, former field executive for the Big Waters District.

Recognition was given to the following people for completing training courses during 1952:

Wilson Morlan, scoutmaster, Thomas Powell, assistant scoutmaster, Ellis Steer, committee chairman, and Crawford Brantingham, committee man, all of Troop 79 in Damascus; Jack Grace, scoutmaster, Steve Missick, assistant scoutmaster, both of Troop 32 in Ellsworth; Mrs. Leona Russell and Mrs. Hazel Eells, den mothers in Pack 82 of Beloit.

The business meeting was opened by the pledge to the flag, led by Scout Danny Dell of Troop 79.

The Big Waters District covers the territory of Jackson, Milton, Palmyra, Deerfield, Berlin, Ellsworth, Goshen, and Smith Townships, and is served by a full-time field scout executive, Harold Duryee.

Seek To Disbar 2 Stark Attorneys

CANTON, O. (AP)—Ian Bruce Hart Sr., founder and dean of the William McKinley School of Law here, and Frank Blanc, a youthful colleague, today were charged with unprofessional conduct as lawyers.

Charges asking disbarment of the two were filed by a special committee Stark County Common Pleas judges appointed to investigate a complaint by the county bar association.

The two are accused of conspiring to deprive the Knights of Pythias lodge in Uhrichsville of legal title to a property there. They were assisting John Alvin O'Donnell, Dennison attorney, in the Tuscarawas County case during 1949.

Both Hart and Blanc denied the allegations and asked the public to suspend judgment until the disbarment proceedings are heard in Common Pleas Court here, probably not before next March.

3 Prison Escapees Sought In Maryland

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—Three dangerous convicts were hunted in this Western Maryland area today and police also kept watch on the Charlestown, W. Va., race track.

The three being sought are the only ones still at large after 10 prisoners made a mass break for freedom at the Western State Penitentiary in Pittsburgh last Sunday.

The search here was concentrated in a section of the city where a stolen car was located yesterday. It was the second of two stolen cars which turned up in this vicinity after they were reported missing in Oakland, Md., and Mounts-ville, W. Va.

Authorities kept a wary eye on the race track, 88 miles southeast of Cumberland, on the theory the escapees might be trying to make some easy money. State police here got word that one of the fugitives, Virgil Toney, 41, had remarked he could make some money if he could get to a race track.

Authorities described the trio as the most dangerous of the bunch that fled.

visited freshly wounded at receiving stations in the field.

Jeeping through the brisk Korean cold Eisenhower wore a tur-hooded Air Force parka, field boots and wool olive drab trousers.

Sometimes he traded his costume for a regular army field jacket and pile cap.

Eisenhower carried no pistol but Van Fleet sported his usual white-handled automatic.

The long flight from the states apparently did not faze Eisenhower. He was in high spirits. He kept up a running fire of conversation with the field commanders.

Occasionally, he paused for a joke or an anecdote with his old West Point companions, Clark and Van Fleet. He got a laugh when he examined foot-long icicles hanging from an Army building.

He apparently was ready for exercise after the long flight.

To maintain secrecy enroute to Korea, Eisenhower did not leave his plane until it reached lonely Iwo Jima in the Pacific. He had remained quietly aboard while the sleek Constellation refueled at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., Hickam Field, Hawaii and Midway.

The long range Constellation could have made much longer jumps but the Air Force chose safer leapfrog island flights to insure plenty of fuel was aboard.

On Iwo, Eisenhower jeered to the top of historic Mount Suribachi, a symbol of Marine heroism in World War II.

Even on bleak Iwo, Eisenhower took time out for talks and inspections and was briefed on the problems of the island.

On the long jaunt from New York, Eisenhower's plane carried a double crew to insure that in rested and alert hand was on the controls at all times. The plane carried two pilots in addition to another veteran pilot as aircraft commander.

One was Maj. William G. Draper, Washington, D. C., the general's pilot in Europe when he headed the NATO forces.

Another plane followed. This carried newsmen and the general's press secretary, James C. Hagerty.

A Secret Service man was aboard each plane.

The general carried out a campaign promise to go to Korea and see what could be done about the stalemate war. But he kept a tight lip as to what he planned to do about it when he becomes U. S. president on Jan. 20.

A complete news blackout on all his movements prevailed from the time he walked from New York's Hotel Commodore as if he were going for a stroll.

The might of the U. S. Army and the American Secret Service combined to give him every protection possible.

A small party accompanied the general while his New York headquarters threw up a news screen by doling out the names of the general's future cabinet and aides.

As Eisenhower left Korea, Gen. Clark, United Nations Far East commander and the man credited with giving the president-elect his first big chance as a leader of combat men, stood at his side. So did Gen. Van Fleet, a football warrior at West Point with Eisenhower and now ground commander of the U. S. 8th Army in Korea.

The 77-year-old ROK president, Rhee, was on hand in battered Seoul, the 500 year old Korean capital, to talk with Eisenhower.

A large contingent of American, Korean, Japanese, British, French, Italian and other newsmen waited for him at snow covered Kimpo Airfield outside Seoul.

But the general's movements were so carefully shielded many Korean school children and admirers missed him.

There were banners on the rubble buildings of Seoul welcoming him and one duplicated the slogan of his followers in the United States election by proclaiming "We Like Ike, Too."

Diplomats from many countries interested in Asia thronged the capital.

Jittery protectors of the next president kept a sharp watch for bomb throwing fanatical Communists wherever the general went.

Suspect Released In Robbery-Arson-Murder

MANSFIELD, O. (AP)—Police today released the only suspect in the robbery-arson-murder case of Mrs. Leah Sternbaum. They said they would turn their efforts to questioning neighbors.

Mrs. Sternbaum, 31, mother of twin three-year old sons, was burned fatally after her husband, Ernest Max Sternbaum, 40, treasurer of a supermarket firm which bears his name, was slugged and robbed in company offices.

Released was a 21-year-old Mansfield man. Police said he had no connection with the crime.

One of the important reasons for England's setting up of colonies in the Virginia was the hope of getting timber and other materials used for building ships.

Prospects Good Ohio Prisons Will Get $8 Million Grant

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The men who run Ohio's prisons want the legislature to spend eight million dollars to prepare for the years ahead when larger populations may bring more convicts.

With the Ohio penitentiary's Halloween riot still fresh in the state's memory, it looks like they may get their money, too.

With the eight million, the keepers of the prison keys expect to change the Big-House picture in Ohio. Here's what they want to do:

Expand Marion Training School into a reformatory holding 1,500 prisoners by spending five million dollars on new buildings and equipment and $600,000 for the land.

Take over Lima State Hospital for the criminal insane from the mental hygiene division, which would replace it by a $1,400,000 expansion of Tiffin State Hospital.

Expand Roseville branch of Ohio Penitentiary from 300 to 500 prisoners by spending $175,000 and earmarking Roseville for the physically handicapped and special cases.

Expand Lebanon Farm, part of London Prison Farm, from 130 to 240 prisoners by spending $250,000 for a new dormitory.

This would enable the state division of corrections to reduce the population of overcrowded Ohio Penitentiary from about 4,100 to about 2,000-2,400. The Penitentiary would be kept as a home for hardened criminals who failed to take kindly to discipline.

They also would make a classification center of the penitentiary, from which all persons sentenced to prison terms would be classified and routed to a proper institution.

Mansfield Reformatory would be turned into an intermediate penitentiary for 2,200 convicts, part of whom would be transferred from Ohio Penitentiary.

Marion Training School, now housing 100, would be turned into a reformatory, replacing Mansfield. But, this can't happen until the state buys the land on which the Marion school now stands. It is currently leased from the federal government and the terms of the lease say the land must be used for educational (training school) purposes.

London Prison Farm would be kept as is.

Lima State Hospital would be taken over for the sole housing of criminal insane from penal institutions, plus problem men and psychotics from the prisons.

Criminal insane and violently insane from Ohio's mental hospitals would be sent to Tiffin. This kind of patient now at Lima would be transferred to Tiffin.

There also would be expansion of the 13 auxiliary camps and plants operated by Ohio Pen, Mansfield and London, particularly the five forestry camps operated by Ohio Penitentiary.

Forestry camps were launched in May, 1950, and Maury Koblenz, assistant corrections chief, said they have been "an unqualified success." The camps are at Green Springs in Seneca-Sandusky Counties, Marietta, Hueston Forest near Oxford, Shawnee at Portsmouth and Hocking near Logan.

Roseville, Junction City Brick Plant and Camp Perry also are now being operated by Ohio Penitentiary. Camp Perry probably will be abandoned once the reformatory is repaired.

Mansfield operates four camps, Grafton, Osborne, Sandusky and Mount Vernon.

There could be an added dividend, too, Koblenz said:

"I believe with proper classification and segregation, we could hope for a higher percentage of rehabilitated prisoners."

If this panned out, it could help in the future to ease the load of caring for increasing numbers of convicts. The state has now 9,300 plus prisoners, just about an all-time peak.

It costs a lot of money to feed, house, guard and clothe that many men — even in austere prison fashion.

$200,000 Uncovered In Recluse's Room

NEW YORK (AP) — A 64-year-old man, found dead Wednesday night in a Queens rooming house, left a suitcase stuffed with more than $200,000 in cash—including a 10,000 bill.

The man, identified by his landlady and attorney as Roger Stewart, apparently died of natural causes. He was termed a virtual recluse whom his neighbors thought was practically penniless.

The money, cached in a Gladstone bag, included 137 $1,000 bills. Also found in the room were stocks and jewelry the value of which was not immediately determined.

Stewart was found dead in a chair in his $25-a-month, second-floor rear room. He was wearing an old suit and hat, and police said no other clothing was found in the room.

GOV. SHIVERS GETS POST

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas has been elected president of the Council of State Governments. Herbert D. Deffenbacher, finance director of Ohio, was named auditor of the organization, an agency set up to exchange information on state government.

Taft-Hartley Talks Sought

Durkin Wants Taft, Union Men To Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—A conference between Sen. Robert A. Taft and labor leaders to discuss proposals for amending the Taft-Hartley Act is a major goal of Martin P. Durkin, President-elect Eisenhower's choice for secretary of labor.

Durkin says he will try to bring about such a conference "as soon as I can," but does not feel free to do it until he assumes office. A meeting including management representatives "at a later date" also is on Durkin's program.

Revealing his plan at a news conference at Eisenhower's headquarters in the Hotel Commodore yesterday, he predicted that relations between organized labor and the Eisenhower administration will be "very good."

Durkin — an AFL leader and Democrat who backed Gov. Adlai Stevenson for president — was asked whether Taft's blast that his selection by Eisenhower was "incredible" might be an obstacle to a Taft-labor conference.

"I don't think so," he replied. Durkin commented that Taft's recent statement contained "no personal attack on me."

Discussing Eisenhower's relations with labor, Durkin said:

"Labor wants to see him do good and will give him every assistance to make his administration a successful one."

The secretary-designate expressed a personal belief that federal labor laws generally require a "basic overhauling." Taft has said he favors changes in the act he co-authored with former Republican Congressman Fred A. Hartley Jr.

Durkin said he planned the Taft-labor conference to see "if there could be a meeting of the minds as to what amendments could be agreed upon."

Prior to the news conference, Durkin conferred at length with Eisenhower assistants.

Ground Broken For Huge Ohio Power Plant

GALLIPOLIS, O. (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche says the 145 million dollar electrical generating plant to be built on the Ohio River is "another demonstration of what a free people can produce."

He spoke Thursday at formal ground-breaking ceremonies for the Ohio Valley Electric Co.'s gigantic power plant. It will help supply electricity to the Atomic Energy Commission's project near Waverly in Pike County.

The governor used a 25-ton power scoop to break the earth as 90 persons crowded around a field at Kyger Creek, a hamlet south of Cheshire in Gallia County.

Lausche said the power plant will establish a unit in the economy of the area "which may bring improvement to the economic status of the citizens of the area."

Philip Sporn of New York City, president of the electric company, predicted Southern Ohio "will be one of the great industrial valleys of the world."

He added he believes other power plants would be constructed in the area.

"The electricity produced here will help make the most important material in the atomic bomb," Sporn said. "We need an atomic bomb because we live in the kind of a world which demands armaments, and we will use the atomic bomb only to defend ourselves and our way of life."

Ohio Valley Electric has a 25-year contract with the AEC to supply power to the Pike County plant.

THE NEW PONTIAC. — Pontiac Division of General Motors today introduced its new line of Dual-Streak Chieftain models, featuring longer wheelbase, increased vision and new curve-control front suspension. Advanced styling is marked by smooth contours, rear fender fin and high deck lid, one-piece curved windshield, wrap-around one-piece rear windows, roomier interiors and entirely new radiator grille and chrome treatment. Above is the new Custom Catalina, one of 11 body types in three Chieftain series: Special, De Luxe and Custom, available here at Broomall Pontiac Co.

Wheelbase for all series is 122 inches, with power steering as optional equipment. The new Pontiac is distinguished by their large one piece wrap-around rear windows, one-piece curved windshields, high deck contour, modern rear-fin fender design and new luxurious interiors.

In addition, such engineering advances as power steering, as optional equipment, modified curve control front suspension, ignition key starting, electronic headlight dimmers, improved dual-range hydraulic transmissions, and other technical developments characterize the new cars.

MSC, Georgia Tech Place 2 On All-America

Southeastern Conference Has 5, Big Ten 4, Pacific 3 On AP Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Michigan State and Georgia Tech, the two major undefeated college football teams of 1952, each placed two men on the Associated Press All-America team based on the recommendations of eight regional boards of experts comprising well known sports writers and sportscasters.

The Southeastern Conference led with five men on the two first teams, offensive and defensive, followed by the Big Ten with four and the Pacific Coast Conference with three.

The AP's all-star offensive backfield is composed of Billy Vessels, Oklahoma; Paul Giel, Minnesota; Don Heinrich, Washington; and Jack Scarbath, Maryland.

There were only two men on the first teams who previously made the All-America—Marvin Matuszak, Tulsa, at guard, and Heinrich, who was on the 1950 team but was sidelined last year by injuries.

Michigan State, the national champion, is represented by two stalwarts of its defensive unit—Frank Kush, guard, and Dick Tamburo, linebacker. Georgia Tech, the runner-up, placed Pete Brown at center on the offensive team and Bobby Moorhead in the defensive backfield.

The AP All-America is based on reports and recommendations through the final games of Nov. 29.

AP's offensive unit has big Tom Stohlhandske of Texas at one end and Frank McPhee, Princeton's 60-minute player, at the other. Kline Gilbert, a giant on Mississippi's surprising line, is at tackle along with David Suminski of Wisconsin. Guards are John Michels of Tennessee and Matuszak. Brown, Vessels, Giel, Heinrich, and Scarbath round out the eleven.

The defensive team brings Don Brandy of Colorado and Tom Scott of Virginia at ends, with J. D. Kimmel of Houston, a former West Point cadet, at one tackle and Charlie LaPrade at the other. Kush and Steve Eisenhauer of Navy are the guards.

The team has two terrific line-backers in Tamburo and Donn Moomaw of U. C. L. A. In the defensive backfield are Johnny Latner of Notre Dame, another rare 60-minute player, Jim Sears of Southern California and Moorhead.

As usual there was a host of good backs clamoring for attention. Among those who barely missed the first team were Paul Cameron of U. C. L. A., Alan Ameche of Wisconsin, Ed Mioduszewski of William and Mary, Gene Filipowski of Villanova, another ex-cadet, Andy Kozar of Tennessee, Eddie Crowder of Oklahoma, Ted Marchibroda of Detroit, Charles Maloy of Holy Cross, Don McAuliffe of Michigan State, Leon Hardeman of Georgia Tech, Howard Waugh of Tulsa, Johnny Olszewski of California, Mitch Price of Columbia, and Bobby Marlow of Alabama.

The 1952 offensive ends are outstanding. Coach Charlie Caldwell of Princeton called McPhee "the greatest all-around player I ever coached." Coach Ed Price of Texas termed Stohlhandske "everything you could expect of an offensive end." He led the Southwest Conference in pass receiving, catching 30 for 519 yards and five touchdowns.

The backfield packs both running and passing ability. Vessels of Oklahoma rushed 168 times for 1,072 yards, leading the Big Seven in this field and setting a new school record. He scored 18 touchdowns, completed 7 out of 20 passes for 209 yards and two touchdowns, caught 7 passes, and returned nine kickoffs for 145 yards.

Heinrich broke his own Pacific Coast Conference passing record with 137 completions in 270 attempts for .507 percentage.

Giel carried the ball 201 times, gained 808 yards and lost 158 for a net of 650 or 3.23 per try.

Scarbath, although disappointing in his last two games, completed 59 out of 113 passes for 1,149 yards and ten touchdowns.

Defensively, the 1952 team was strong. Scott at end was termed by Virginia Coach Art Gueppie as his "team's defensive inspiration," while Brandy was called by Coach Del Ward of Colorado "the fiercest competitor I've coached in 25 years."

The two big line-backers, Moomaw and Tamburo, barely edged out two other giants, Tom Catlin of Oklahoma, and George Morris of Georgia Tech.

The defensive backfield is exactly that, although Latner of Notre Dame is a potent offensive player as well. He played a total of 422 minutes out of a possible 600 and intercepted four passes for 68 yards.

Moorhead of Georgia Tech intercepted seven passes, returning 166 yards, including two touchdowns.

Sears of Southern California was another versatile back, but he shone on defense, with numerous key pass interceptions.

OFFENSIVE TEAM:
ENDS: Tom Stohlhandske, Texas; of Baytown, Tex. and Frank McPhee, Princeton, of Youngstown, O.

TACKLES: Kline Gilbert, Mississippi, of Hollandale, Miss., and David Suminski, Wisconsin, of Ashland Wis.

GUARDS: John Michels, Tennessee, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Marvin Matuszak, Tulsa, of South Bend, Ind.

CENTER: Pete Brown, Georgia Tech, of Rossville, Ga.

BACKS: Billy Vessels, Oklahoma, of Cleveland, Okla.; Paul Giel, Minnesota, of Winona, Minn.; Don Heinrich, Washington, of Bremerton, Wash., and Jack Scarbath, Maryland, of Baltimore, Md.

LOOK ALIKES—Julius Boros, left, frequently is mistaken for James Mason, right, the British actor. Boros of the Mid Pines, N. C., Golf Club played his part well winning the United States Open and Chicago Tam O'Shanter World Championships and more than $37,000 to be the Professional Golfer-of-the-Year.

Commission Takes Title From Robinson

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission stripped Sugar Ray Robinson of his world middleweight title in a surprise move today.

The action brought this report from George Gainford, Robinson's manager, "Somebody is screwing some place. A title is won in a ring and taken away in a ring."

Robert Christenberry, commission chairman, declared Robinson's title was being vacated because he had not met the rule which requires a champion to defend his title every six months.

"We had given him an extra month to decide whether to continue his boxing or go into a career as an entertainer," said Christenberry. "Up to now we have not had an answer."

To this, Gainford, contacted on a train at New Haven, Conn. en route to Boston, asserted he had mailed a special delivery letter to Christenberry before he and Robinson had left New York.

"It is our understanding that we were only to notify the commission that negotiations were underway for a fight," Gainford said. "In the letter, which Christenberry should receive today we explain that we are negotiating with Jack Solomons, the British promoter, for a title fight with Randy Turpin in London next June."

Robinson lost his middleweight title to Turpin in London in July, 1951, but won it back in a return bout the following September at the Polo Grounds, New York.

Pastor Will Address Goshen Boosters Club
Rev. Richard Drake of Alliance will address members of the Goshen Boosters Club Monday at 8 p.m. at the high school in Damascus.

Rev. Drake, pastor of the Union Avenue Methodist Church in Alliance, will speak on the topic, "Better relationship—the school, children, parents, school clubs, athletic programs, more participation—all along the way by everyone."

Damascus Boy Scout Troop 79, sponsored by the Boosters, will present part of the program. Lunch will be served.

The club, which has not levied any dues this year, supports its work by money-raising activities.

Shakeup In Tribe Top Brass Seen

Greenberg Or Ryan May Relinquish Jobs

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland News commented President Ellis Ryan and General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians "are at loggerheads and it is a good bet before next season opens" one or the other "will be out."

In a dispatch from the major league meeting at Phoenix, Ariz., Ed McAuley, veteran baseball writer and columnist of the News, said it appeared "the high command of the Tribe is about to crack wide open."

His story said Ryan, president of the baseball club since a syndicate which he headed purchased Bill Veeck's holdings in 1949, would ask stockholders next month for "full authority to run the Tribesmen as he pleases."

Ryan and Greenberg each refused to admit the breach, the News said. It quoted Ryan as replying this way when confronted in Phoenix with reports of front office dissension:

"In any organization, just as in any family, there are differences of opinion. I daresay that applies to newspapers, too. Normally, such differences are ironed out. On the policy level—which doesn't concern Hank—there are such differences. I'm optimistic about the possibility of resolving them."

Greenberg, denying any knowledge of the situation, told the News:

"I have just returned from Europe. If any trouble among the owners developed while I was away, I haven't been told of it. Personally, I consider myself an employee of the Cleveland ball club. If the directors decide that I'm not doing my job satisfactorily, it's their privilege to make a change. But a year ago, Mr. Ryan gave me a new contract through 1954. I assume from that that he must think I'm doing a good job."

The News said Bob Hope, noted comedian and a minor stockholder in the Tribe, had told a close friend:

"The last time I talked with Ellis, he said he was selling out his interest in the Indians."

Ryan said he hadn't seen or talked with Hope since last winter.

Big Ten Coaches Urge 30-Day Spring Drill
CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten football coaches, unable to agree on 1955 and 1956 game schedules, are fully in accord in urging an expanded 30-day spring practice drill.

Coaches and athletic directors have submitted the proposal to the faculty committee for decision today. If approval is made, the Big Ten officially will make its request to the NCAA convention at Washington, D. C., Jan. 8-10.

The NCAA limits spring drills to 20 sessions within a 30-day period. The American Council on Education has recommended spring practice be abolished entirely. The Ivy League has banned spring training.

Coaches failed to reach a satisfactory agreement on 1955-56 schedules which have been stalemated since last May at the spring meeting. Athletic directors and coaches will call a special meeting, probably in late January, to solve the problem.

Salem Cagers To Play In Preview Saturday

The Salem High Quakers will make their second public appearance of the season Saturday night at a cage carnival in Struthers.

The locals will play the first game of the evening against Youngstown Ursuline. Four games in all are scheduled, each consisting of two seven-minute quarters.

Other contests will include Boardman playing host Struthers, Youngstown East tangle with Girard and, in the windup, a college tilt, Kent State against Westminster.

The cage carnival will be held in the brand-new Struthers Fieldhouse, which is supposed to be one of the most modern in this district. The spacious gym seats between 3,000 and 4,000 fans.

In addition to the top-flight basketball, many side attractions will entertain spectators. Plenty of variety acts and even a "sock-hop" after the game are among the attractions promised.

Coach John Cabas will start the same lineup against Ursuline as

Berlin Center Wins Over Greenford

Berlin Center won a 12-point victory over Greenford cagers in the game played at Berlin Center Thursday night. Final score was Berlin Center 53; Greenford 41.

The Berlin Center team got off to a 14-point lead in the first quarter and hung onto its margin throughout the game.

Ed Cibula and Charles Hunter were high scoring cagers for Greenford, each totaling 12 points. Frank Young led the Berlin Center attack with 23 points.

GREENFORD — 41
Cibula, 4-12; Hunter, 3-12; Feicht, 3-19; Beck, 2-4; Ferguson, 1-2; Whitmer, 0-1-1.

BERLIN CENTER — 53
Young, 9-23; Hartzell, 1-2-4; Bates, 1-3-5; Diver, 2-4-4; Kale, 2-7-11; Fluealy, 1-4-4; Burke, 0-0-0; KKeeler, 1-0-2.

TCU's Dutch Meyer Quits As Grid Coach

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—L. R. (Dutch) Meyer quit today as head football coach at Texas Christian University after 19 years in the job. He will be succeeded by his chief assistant, Abe Martin.

The little man who gained national fame with his razzle dazzle football teams will remain as athletic director.

Meyer's resignation was not entirely unexpected. For several years he had been thinking of retiring as a coach.

Meyer in his 19 years as varsity coach—which made him the senior mentor in the Southwest Conference—won 109 games, lost 79, and tied 13.

Minor Leagues Adopt Proposed Bonus Rule

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The proposed bonus rule was adopted by the minor leagues in their convention Thursday.

Adoption was unanimous. Under the new rule, proposed by the Major-Minor Executive Council, players would be designated as bonus players if they receive more than $4,000 to sign a contract for the majors, and higher classification minors, or $3,000 in the leagues classed B, C and D.

Stiff penalties are provided for violations, including $2,000 fines for major league clubs and $1,000 for minor league clubs. The team officials also would be subject to $500 fines and possible suspension.

Cincinnati To Have Team Co-Captains

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati will have co-captains for its 1953 football team.

Election of halfback Dom Del Bene of Girard and defensive end Don Fritz of Lorain to lead the Bearcats next season was announced at the annual UC football dinner Thursday night.

Coach Sid Gilman announced that jerseys No. 28 and 29 are being retired in tribute to the play of quarterback Gene Rossi and guard Bill Shalowsky. Rossi wore No. 28 and Shalowsky wore No. 29.

Rossi also won the award as the 1952 team's most valuable offensive player and Glenn Sample won the award as the most valuable defensive player.

COLUMBIANA GAME SET

COLUMBIANA—The Columbiana Youngs will play the New York Broadway Colored Clowns Saturday night at 9 in the High School gym as a benefit for the Parent-Teachers Association.

Roy Bailey's 75-yard touchdown run against Vanderbilt was Tulane's longest scrimmage run since 1944.
